

Loan Documentation and Loan Enforcement Seminars

May 20, 2025 – Holiday Inn, Fargo
May 21, 2025 – Radisson Hotel, Bismarck

About the Program

If every loan was repaid in full, loan documents wouldn't be necessary. But in the real world, having the right loan documentation is important and so is knowing what can be done, in and out of court, to maximize recovery.

This six-hour course will dive into the key terms and conditions in loan documents that are essential for enforcement and maximizing repayment when a loan goes into default. You'll learn what to include in your documents and how to navigate the legal process when enforcement becomes necessary.

Program Highlights

Join us for a fast-paced, interactive session packed with practical insights and real-world stories from decades of experience. Topics include loan agreements, promissory notes, mortgages, security agreements, guaranties, financing statements, subordination and intercreditor agreements, assignments, and workout agreements.

The course will also cover North Dakota legal remedies such as foreclosure, claim and delivery, self-help repossession, and the impact of borrower bankruptcy. This is an opportunity to strengthen loan documentation and enforcement strategies!

Who Should Attend

The seminar is designed for loan officers, loan review officers, documentation specialists and bank counsel.

Speakers from Zimney Foster P.C.
